

Review – Enough Said

Good – 21	Indifferent – 3	Bad – 1
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Exactly the kind of thing the club should be showing. I enjoyed watching it. • Delightful. Funny. Beautifully acted. Loved it. And no F-words. Well chosen. Thank you. • Enjoyed the film. • Really enjoyed the film, a fitting tribute to James Gandolfini. • Very good. • I cried when Ellen was leaving for university. • A pleasant evening of chuckling entertainment. Well worth 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Film was OK but not great. The more I think about it the less I liked it. Good at the beginning with some jokes - 'Pick up your litter - you're not English!' Bad crowd-pleaser happy ending. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I normally enjoy the challenge that many of the Club's films pose, but this was a film about nothing and people I could not care less about. Now I know why I

viewing. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • But not brilliant - we both really liked the humour and the acting was great, but quite a clunky plot. • Entertaining. Its two main characters gave excellent performances. • Very enjoyable performance from the 2 leads. Lots of good cringe inducing moments. Perhaps it shouldn't have had a happy ending though. • I enjoyed the film. It showed that you have to be careful who you are talking to when slagging off other people! • Enjoyed a light, witty comedy - bit of a contrast to the gritty reality of its predecessor of a fortnight past. • Really enjoyed it. Simple storyline which was very enjoyable. • The characters were all likeable and there was no swearing! 	It'll never last - the relationship I mean! Husband thought it boring. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Good main storyline but the film was unconvincing and the producer struggled to extend the story for the full length of the film. • Although the lead performances were good I didn't really care that much about the characters and their very Californian "issues". 	don't watch US soaps & sitcoms.
