

Review – The Rocky Horror Picture Show

Good - 20	Indifferent - 4	Bad – 4
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>I love the way this film is so patently "B" movie and mocks the horror and science fiction genres. The lyrics are fantastically, tongue-in-cheek dire but the singing is top quality. I especially love the really naff alien costumes at the end and the fact that the leads are in their underwear throughout the film!</li> <li>Not seen before but Good (much to my surprise)!</li> <li>TOTALLY CRAZY BUT BRILLIANT. Really enjoyed it. Did Tim Curry imitate Freddie Mercury or was it the other way</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>We enjoyed it. It was worth showing, especially on the appropriate date.</li> <li>I had seen the stage show but not the film before last night, so it was good to see it but not really my sort of film.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Not really my cup of tea. But I found it an interesting experience, though I am afraid that I left before the end – too much of the same sort of thing. I think "Bad" would sum up</li> </ul> round? Must have been quite shocking in its day, though not so now. Just camp fun.

- I agree with Kit that the film, although not long does have longeurs - saved by the outrageous performance of Tim Curry, who we saw in the original stage production.
- Really enjoyed it, like wine, it improves with age. Most notable are the cleverly written songs that had me humming happily as I left the Arts Centre. The film certainly embodies much of mood of the Seventies and its fascination with the Fifties. Admittedly, the film does lose the plot a bit in the middle but rallies again towards the end. Thanks for arranging the pre-film talk. These lectures add a great deal to the evening and help make the Cinema Club something special... more please!
- An excellent choice for Halloween.
- Good doesn't really do it justice as it's the most entertaining film shown by the club so far. A great shame that it had a poor attendance with no doubt some members worried about the references to transvestites but what a treat they missed with never a swear word in sight and joyous entertainment from start to finish.
And so say the 3 guests I brought with me.
- I thought the film was great. I enjoyed it more this time around. It was such good fun. Thanks for showing it.
- Thought it was great fun and so bad that it was really good - if you know what I mean. Hence put me down as a good.
- Great! Loved the music and all the characters, I was really sad when Franken Furter got killed even though it was all completely against my moral code it was an enjoyable watch. I couldn't stop laughing when the joint was being carved with sound effects like a chain saw!
- Interesting to see. Quite fast pace, doesn't flag, music not

- I found the film indifferent but both my wife and I welcomed the chance to see it because of the status attached to it and the fact that it had passed us by! It was entertaining enough but I wouldn't put it in the 'great films' category, there were some enjoyable scenes as in the early dance sequence and the banquet scene. I did think I might have recognised more of the music. It was a good idea to have the pre film talk which was most enlightening and added much to the experience.

my feelings!

- We didn't go to the film as we'd both seen it before and would rate it bad. We thought it was not a good choice and would have limited appeal to members. It will be interesting to hear what others thought.
-

particularly memorable but lively. I was quite happy for Janet and Brad to go in to the haunted house, when usually I would be asking 'is that a good idea?' Tim Curry is such a screen presence. But I wouldn't go and see it again.

- I'd never seen this film before and had formed all sorts of impressions of it, so it was a pleasant surprise to enjoy it. I thought it was funny, knowing, bitterly camp and gloriously silly. I'm sure many people tired of it a long time ago, however I can completely understand why it's a cult classic. My partner on the other hand hated it and couldn't wait for it to end.