Good – 27	OK – 7

I recommended it to my jolly Hungarian pharmacist this morning.</li><li>• What a romp; the whole thing flew along at a dazzling pace. Just enough menace to give it substance. I enjoyed this film a lot.</li><li>• Outstanding. One of the funniest films I have seen in ages.</li><li>• I couldn't go due to illness but I had seen the film before and had liked it enough to have had plans to see it again. - Brought a smile to my face, just what I needed.
- I found "The Grand Budapest Hotel" an enjoyable film; imaginative, funny and thought provoking. There was a flavour of Roald Dahl there; perhaps an influence from an earlier project? However, at various points in the film, it became just a little too grotesque for comfort. As a whole it was vaguely reminiscent of the 70's comedy series "Ripping Yarns." Thanks to the programming committee for another excellent selection.
- What a good film. The two leads held one's attention and the sets were stupendous!
- The film was delightfully entertaining. The verbal pyrotechnics of Gustav were wonderful. James Bond meets Noel Coward!
- Very quirky and good fun. I love films where you can play "spot the cameo!"
- I wasn't sure what to expect and it had its funny moments.
- First rate entertainment
- A stylish film dealing with great emotional issues in a deceptively witty way!
- I thought that The Grand Budapest Hotel was most enjoyable, so a 'Good', thank you.
- It was light hearted entertainment.
- Rather unusual but we both enjoyed the story and characters.
- Charming. Imaginative, - beautiful, creative, stunning settings. Superb acting – what more can I say. Thank you for showing us this film.
- Verging on the excellent. Loved the toboggan sequence chase and aftermath: cartoony aspects and very funny. Great stylised interiors.
- Brilliant! Thoroughly enjoyed it.

- Found the film interesting, could have done without the F word which was over used. Visually splendid, the music was good, especially at the end. Shame most of the audience left before the amusing and jolly end of credits. Think I fall into the indifferent category!
- Thought the film was OK from the enjoyment level but not good, but it has had some excellent reviews since its release. There were some humorous bits throughout but it wasn't gripping. There are some great Ralph Fiennes films out there ~ though this is the first comedy I've seen him in. And it was completely different from anything I've read by Stephan Zweig.
- Ok for a wet Sunday afternoon at home, but doubt whether I'd bother to go out on a wet night and pay to see it!
- Not as good as first time saw it.
